Roxane,

Not sure how you got this email? Was it just in a general mailbox or did Grayden forward this to you?

Sorry I am just getting to this email. I realize that it has been a week since your incident occurred, but I'm asking for a day or two to investigate this incident before getting back with you.

I will be in touch shortly,

Best,

Roxane

Juliet , Grayden and Olivia,

It has been one week since this incident occurred. I have YET to hear from your corporate offices. I am not waiting much longer to hear from you. I have given you ample time to solve this absolutely horrendous situation. As of yet, there has been no resolution. I do realize it was a holiday, and I am assuming that corporate offices were spending time with family. A privilege I was not afforded. Your company traumatized not only me but my children. This is a very serious situation for your company and one that is not going away.

I will wait until 5PM tomorrow, January 2, 2018 to hear from your corporate headquarters directly. If I do not hear from your corporate offices by that time, you will leave me no choice but to take this public and go through different avenues. As I stated multiple times in our conversations, this is and will be a Public Relations nightmare.

You have my contact information. You may call me at any time.

Hello Anne,

As discussed, your new flight itineraries are as follows:

(<https://flyfrontier.custhelp.com/ci/inlineImage/pet/389875/3e97d0a92fdd811322f673ff4c3f6ab3>)

(<https://flyfrontier.custhelp.com/ci/inlineImage/pet/389876/3d8bd84fc84287350a508ea565fabe4b>)

I have also attached each file as a PNG in case they do not come through in the body.

Kind Regards,

Grayden

Response Via Email(Juliet) - 12/25/2017 12:18 PM
Hello Anne,

Thank you for calling Frontier Airlines Customer Relations today in regards to your experience at the Denver airport on December 25, 2017. I'm really sorry to hear about the poor service you were provided and that you were unable to travel as planned.

Your description of your experience at the Denver airport is concerning and I can only assure you this is not the type of service we strive to provide. I'm sorry that this happened to you.

I assure you that your situation has been documented and will be forwarded to our management team for further review. Per your request, you will be contacted later on today by one of our supervisors to further discuss your experience.

I apologize again and we look forward to helping you reach a resolution.

Regards,

Juliet
